An aerial photograph showing a road intersection. A road runs vertically, and another road branches off to the left. A small black box with the number '154' is placed on the vertical road. The surrounding area is a mix of dark and light patches, likely vegetation and bare ground.

This aerial photograph shows a coastal area with a road and a small building. The road is a straight line running horizontally across the middle of the image. To the right of the road, there is a small, light-colored building. The surrounding area is a mix of dark and light patches, possibly representing vegetation and bare ground.
